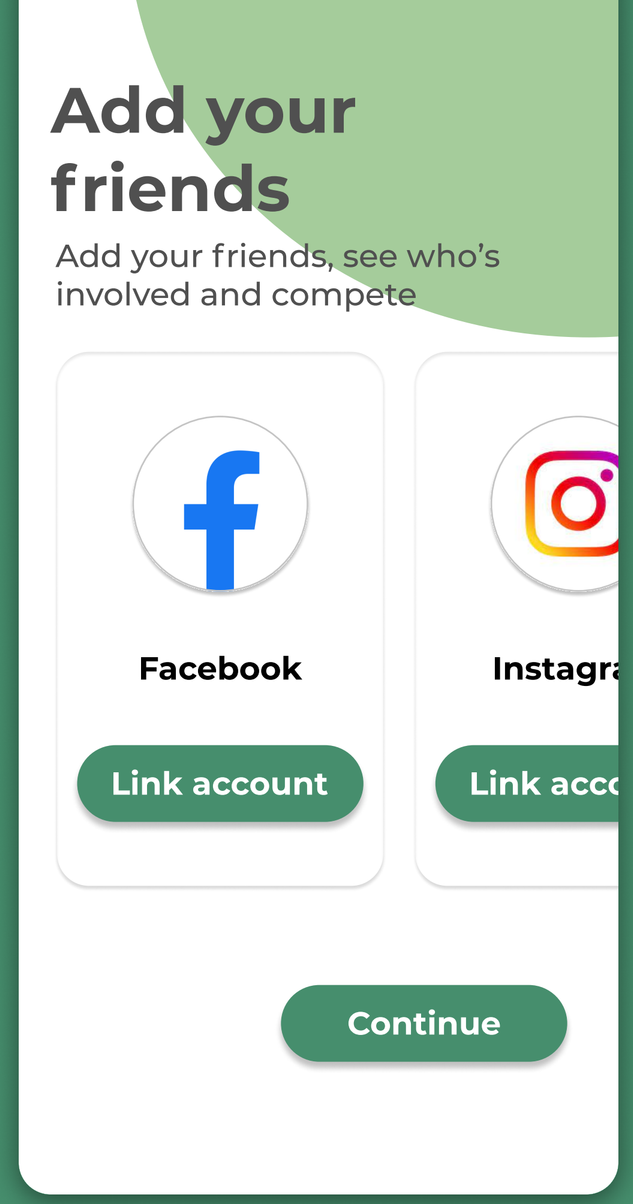
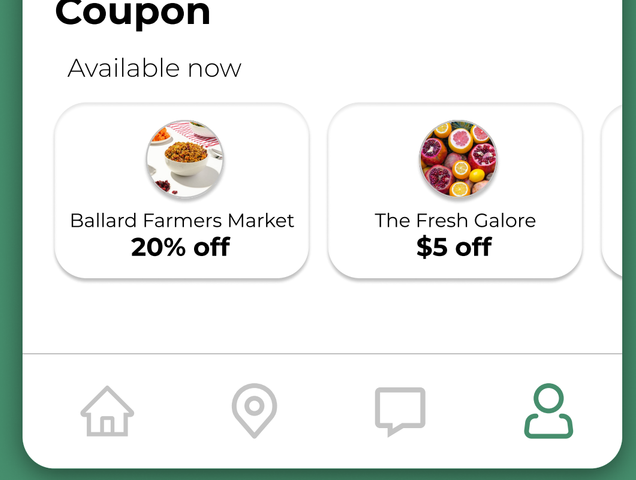
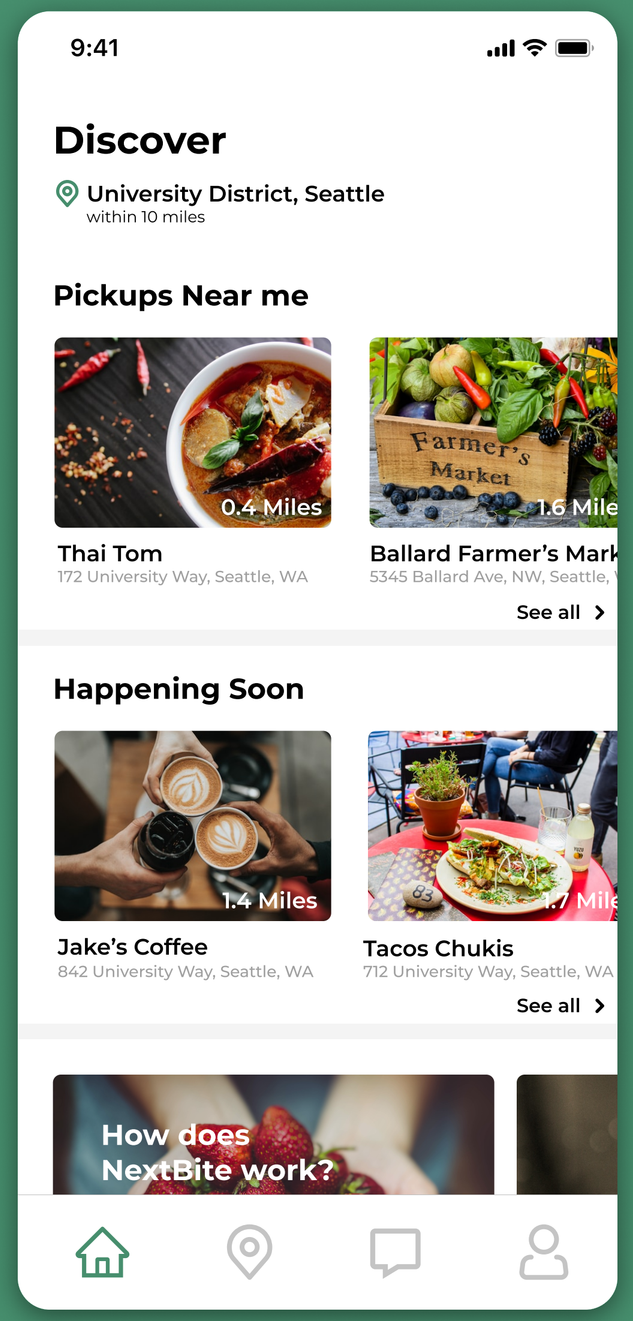
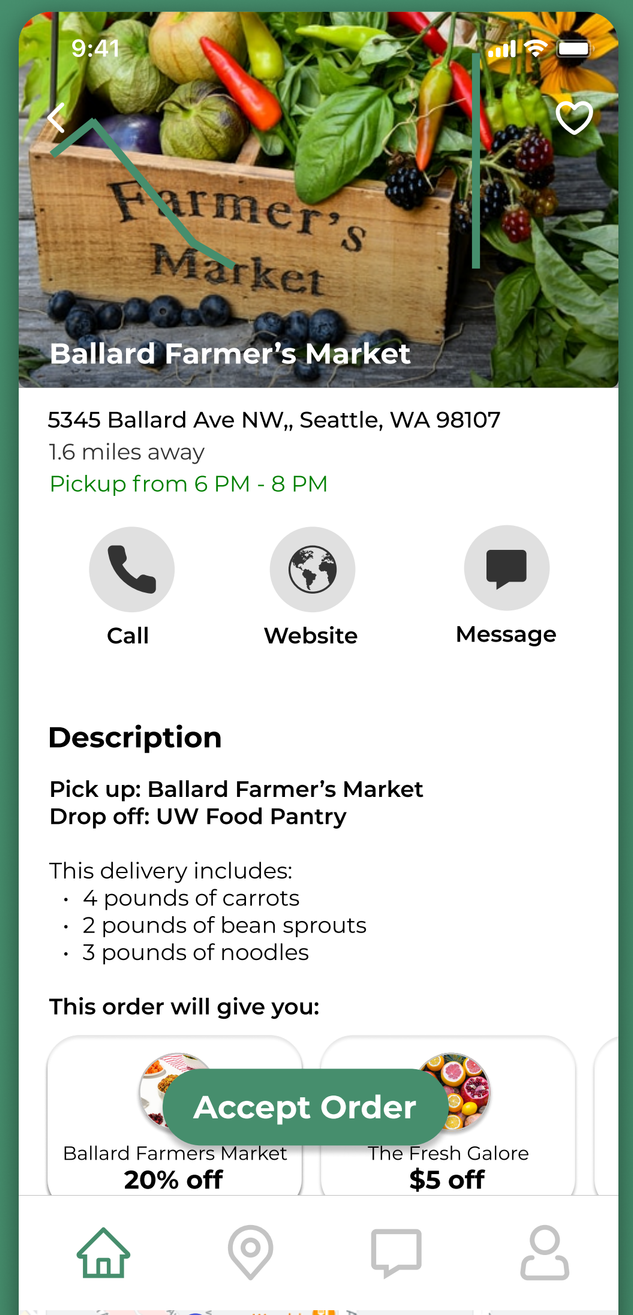
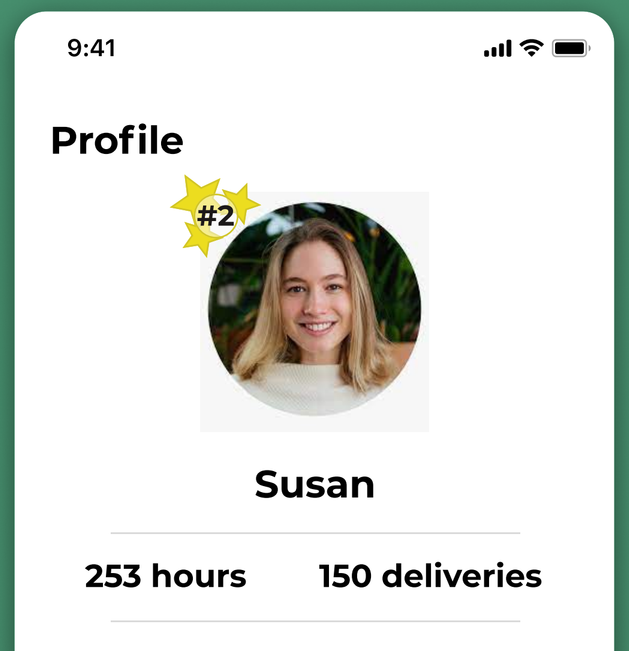
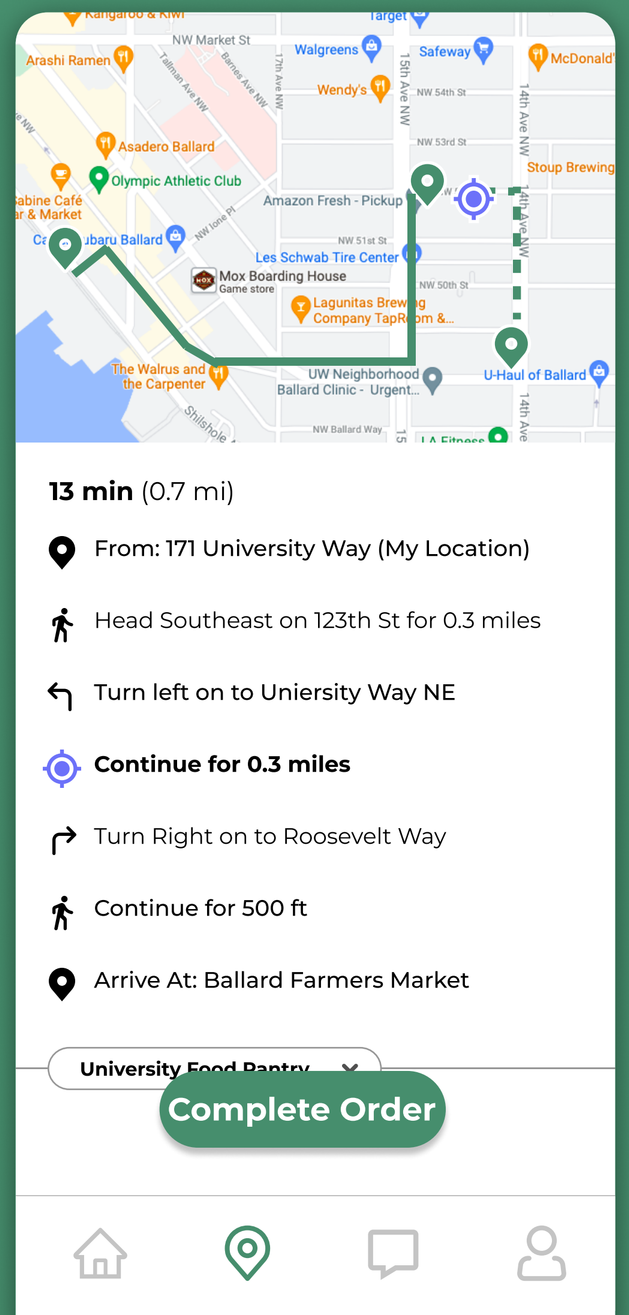
NextBite












How should we incentivize individuals who want to help combat food waste so that they can help streamline the donation process from farmers markets and restaurants to food banks so that they can reduce food waste in their local community and help those in need?